DETAILED ACTION

The amendments filed on 10/4/09 and 10/29/07 have been entered and the remarks therein have been considered.

Double Patenting

Claim 62 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a duplicate of claim 61. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k). Accordingly, one of claims 61 and 62 should be canceled since they are identical.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 49, 50, 52, 53, 56-58 and 60-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The claims recite a "drive mechanism for reciprocating the hammer". However, the disclosure merely discloses a means for lifting the hammer via the chain, wherein the hammer thereafter drops due to gravity. This doesn't properly constitute a mechanism "for reciprocating", per se, which requires a means for providing movement in two opposite directions. Since gravity is not patentable, and the means by which the hammer is caused to move in a downward direction is gravity, the present invention lacks a "mechanism for reciprocating". Perhaps replacing "lifting" for "reciprocating" would alleviate the rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 60-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minotti et al. '317 in view of Lamoureux et al. '365.

Minotti et al. 317 discloses the invention substantially as claimed and associated method of operation thereof including a housing 56, 58, 62 having an opening at an end 60 thereof, a hydraulic drive mechanism 12 for "reciprocating" a hammer 16, 88 and mounted in the housing, wherein the apparatus is connected to a machine 20 via an articulating arm. However, Minotti et al. '317 lacks the hammer lock. Lamoureux et al. '365 discloses a hammer 2, 22 reciprocable in housing 1, and lockable in a variety of desired axial positions via a locking mechanism including an eccentric portion 13 and an actuator 15. In view of the teachings of Lamoureux et al. '365, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the apparatus of Minotti et al. '317 with the claimed hammer lock in order to secure the hammer relative to the housing in a desired position during for example an auxiliary operation, or during apparatus transport.

Claims 60-62 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Green et al. '500 in view of Lamoureux et al. '365.

Greene et al. '500 discloses the invention substantially as claimed including a housing 53 having an opening at an end 96 thereof, a chain drive mechanism 54 including a dog 65 cooperating with a hammer projection 66 for "reciprocating" a hammer 55 and mounted on the housing, wherein the apparatus is connected to a machine 20 via an articulating arm. However, Greene et al. '500 lacks the hammer lock. Lamoureux et al. '365 discloses a hammer 2, 22 reciprocable in housing 1, and lockable in a variety of desired axial positions via a locking mechanism including an eccentric portion 13 and an actuator 15. In view of the teachings of Lamoureux et al. '365, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the apparatus of Greene et al. '500 with the claimed hammer lock in order to secure the hammer relative to the housing in a desired position during for example an auxiliary operation, or during apparatus transport.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 49, 50, 52, 53 and 56-58 are allowed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
